DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. It should be noted that no Information Disclosure Statements have been filed in the instant application.

Specification

2. Applicant is respectfully requested to update the status for all applications in the first paragraph of the specification on p. 1.

3. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: On p. 4, line 10, the degrees symbol should be corrected for clarity.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Objections

4. Claims 4, 8 and 9 are objected to because of the following informalities:

Claim 4, line 2, it is unclear whether the term "either" is an alternative expression here. In other words, should "either" read —each—here instead. Clarification is respectfully requested. The same concern holds for claim 9.

Claim 8, line 2, "another bristle-bearing moving portion" should be positively recited for clarity and completeness. For clarity, it is suggested to positively claim where or what the shaft is connected to and not what the shaft is not connected to.

Appropriate correction is required.

Double Patenting

5. A rejection based on double patenting of the "same invention" type finds its support in the language of 35 U.S.C. 101 which states that "whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process ... may obtain a patent therefor ..." (Emphasis added). Thus, the term "same invention," in this context, means an invention drawn to identical subject matter. See Miller v. Eagle Mfg. Co., 151 U.S. 186 (1894); In re Ockert, 245 F.2d 467, 114 USPQ 330 (CCPA 1957); and In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970).

A statutory type (35 U.S.C. 101) double patenting rejection can be overcome by canceling or amending the conflicting claims so they are no longer coextensive in scope. The filing of a terminal disclaimer cannot overcome a double patenting rejection based upon 35 U.S.C. 101.

6. Claims 18-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 as claiming the same invention as that of claims 1, 3 and 4 of prior U.S. Patent No. 6,189,693. This is a double patenting rejection.

7. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

8. Claim 1 is rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-10 of U.S. Patent No. 6,000,083. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because one skilled in the art would find it obvious to provide for only a single moving portion for the moving bristles for the purpose of providing a more compact brushing arrangement. The use of gearing connected between a shaft and a moving portion is a well known arrangement in the toothbrush art for powering the moving portion.

9. Claims 1-17 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-20 of U.S. Patent No. 6,178,579 or claims 1-45 of U.S. Patent No. 6,360,395. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other, because one skilled in the art would find it obvious to provide for only a single moving portion for the moving bristles for the purpose of providing a more compact brushing arrangement. The use of gearing connected between a shaft and a moving portion is a well known arrangement in the toothbrush art for powering the moving portion. Further, whether the moving portion is at the first end of the head portion, second end of the head portion or in the middle of the head portion, one skilled in the art would find it obvious to have provided for any of the aforementioned arrangements depending on design and function purposes. Also, oscillation and pure rotation for a moving bristle portion is well within the level of ordinary skill depending on desired brushing effectiveness and goals to be achieved.
